

Join the advisory council on water and wastewater operator certification!

Do you know someone with an interest in water and wastewater treatment rules and procedures?

The Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) and the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) are looking for people who want to join an advisory council on possible rules related to water and wastewater operator certification.

Group members will advise the commissioners of MDH and MPCA on: classification of water and wastewater facilities; qualifications and competency evaluation of operators; and the laws, rules, and procedures that may be desirable to regulate the operation of these facilities.

Who should apply?

- Certified water and wastewater operators
- Members of the public, particularly from academic institutions teaching water/wastewater operations
- Members of organizations representing municipalities
- Applicants outside the 7-county metro area are encouraged

The council will meet quarterly at a centralized location.

Apply by September 30

Apply online at Office of the Minnesota Secretary of State - Boards & Commissions and search for Advisory Council on Water Supply Systems and Wastewater Treatment Facilities.
